Tim's Tip of the Day

Before vehicles came equipped with day time running lights most Saskatchewan drivers had the good sense to turn on their headlights in poor driving conditions. That still makes sense, day time running lights do no give you tail lights and in snow and blowing snow conditions you are just in as much danger from being run over as hitting some thing so turn on the headlights with a ground drift or when it is snowing. (Click here to see full size.)

Find of the Day

The Second Amendment was Ratified to Preserve Slavery

The ridiculous preaching about upholding their constitution by Americans is somewhat confusing. In this article by Thom Hartmann we get an explanation as to why after the rebellion against Britain, Americans were allowed to carry firearms. It wasn't for a good cause.
