Tim's Tip of the Day

Though we usually think of cities as home to large numbers of people a surprising number of those people have one or two dogs and many have cats. But most Canadian cities are home to squirrels, bush rabbits, white tailed deer, some coyotes and the occasional moose. \(Click here to see full size.\)

Find of the Day

'See you in court': an expensive time-consuming wrongheaded strategy

This is just one of several stories this week on how the federal government has spent $106 million dollars in legal fees fighting with Canada's first nations people. A total waste of money since the government loses every case because they are wrong.

Many people can understand the way some concepts and ideas shape not only the lives of people but often look a lot like an obsession. Flying is like that and this story attempts to explain some if and includes 228 pictures.
